Connecting + contributing to the future of medical education
Dear Friends,

Our time at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine is now. We are a leading academic institution in the midst of exciting development and growth. I am delighted to share our inaugural Progress Notes, which provides a snapshot of the incredible strides we are making as an academic medical center. This is a time of pride for our medical school alumni—past, present, and future—and is deserving of honor and celebration.

As a graduate, you are a valued member of Northwestern's medical community and have played an essential role in our history. Across the nation, alumni like you are making impactful contributions in private practice, academic medicine, and in industry as scientists, consultants, entrepreneurs, and healthcare innovators. You represent Northwestern with great distinction.

Consider the following accomplishments and points of impact:
- Feinberg has risen two spots to rank 17th among the best research-oriented medical schools in the country, according to the latest U.S. News & World Report rankings.
- Northwestern Memorial Hospital is now ranked 8th nationally, according to U.S. News & World Report.
- We received more than 7,600 applications for the medical school’s 2016-2017 academic year.
- The Class of 2020 is represented by 163 highly competitive students.
  www.feinberg.northwestern.edu/admissions/how-to-apply/class-profile.html

Your steadfast commitment to our success is evident and essential as we continue our ascension into the highest ranks of medical education and toward our goal of becoming a top 10 medical school. I hope that you feel a sense of pride in your alma mater as you read this publication and will consider getting involved (or even more involved) with us. Your participation, volunteerism, and financial support have a profound impact on our ability to pursue our educational, clinical, and research missions and to meet the demands of 21st century medical education and research.

I ask for your continued, or first-time, philanthropic support to further our amazing trajectory. We hope that many of you will join us in supporting scholarships. These prestigious awards help our students to pursue their dreams of becoming physicians while providing them with financial support to ease the burden of debt. Scholarships are also one of the most rewarding ways to stay connected to today's medical students while ensuring the futures of generations of Northwestern-educated physicians and scientists. Thank you again for being an integral part of our Northwestern Medicine family. I encourage you to continue sending your feedback on how we can best serve you.

Warmest regards,

Eric G. Neilson, MD
Vice President for Medical Affairs
Lewis Landsberg Dean
Dear Fellow Alumni,

Building on the successes Dean Neilson shared with you, I want to briefly tell you about the exciting progress we are making with the Medical Alumni Association (MAA). As alumni, all of us take pride in Feinberg’s growth and accomplishments and are actively involved in perpetuating the MAA’s mission:

“Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine has emerged nationally and internationally as a top-tier medical school with a strong upward trajectory. The purpose of its Medical Alumni Association Board of Directors is to foster among its members a spirit of loyalty, professional interaction, mentoring, and philanthropy, including scholarship support, so as to help attract top talent and ensure the continued growth and success of the medical school as a leader in education, patient care, and research.”

Our Medical Alumni Association Board (MAAB) is divided into four committees that reflect the main pillars of our mission:

- Engagement
- Mentoring
- Philanthropy
- Strategic Initiatives

Alumni pride and involvement are key ingredients for strengthening alumni commitment and building our alumni network. Our current board members are listed to the right with their committee affiliations. See how your friends and classmates are contributing.

Please let us know how you would like to be more involved in supporting progress—we are eager for your thoughts and ideas and welcome your participation!

Best wishes,

Bruce Scharschmidt, ’68, ’70 MD

CONTACT US
As your director of Alumni Relations, I am proud to be a part of Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine. In the short time that I have been here, I have had the incredible opportunity to build relationships with the high-caliber physicians, scientists, physical therapists, and physician assistants that come out of Northwestern.

The Alumni Relations team is dedicated to strengthening the ties our alumni have to their alma mater. We are rolling out alumni events nationwide, from happy hours and tailgate parties to networking and educational programming. We will continue to expand our reach within the Northwestern medical alumni network by adding more ways for our alumni to get involved, volunteer, and become engaged.

For those of you who are actively involved, I appreciate your support and efforts. It has been a pleasure to meet many of you, and I look forward to meeting more of you! Thank you for participating in building a strong medical alumni community.

Please know that our entire team is here to support you!

Babette Nyka

MD ALUMNI ACROSS THE NATION
Engagement

We all walked the halls of Ward, some of us slept in Abbott, and many of us can still hear the voice of Loyal Davis. Our similarities do not end with our alma mater—it is where they begin. We are your facilitators in helping you connect or reconnect with your fellow alumni, classmates, and friends. We ALL provide the essential foundation to keep our medical school memories alive and share them with current and future generations of alumni.

As chair of the Engagement Committee, one of my main goals is to bring your Medical Alumni Association to you! We invite all medical alumni to take part in our events nationwide. Whether you are at home, traveling, or coming back to Chicago, please join us!

James P. Kelly, ’73 MD, ’07 MBA
Get involved with your Medical Alumni Association—let’s share our successes and open the conversation to solidify our alumni bonds!

More than 400 alumni and guests returned to campus for Alumni Weekend in April 2016. Save the date for Alumni Weekend 2017—April 28–29!

The schedule has been carefully planned and is filled with incredible faculty lectures, tours, celebrations, and more!
Mentoring

Alumni Physicians of Feinberg

Dr. Rishindra Reddy

This is an exciting time to serve as an alumni mentor at Feinberg. Northwestern medical students are not only bright and eager to learn from us, but they also are navigating a constantly changing medical landscape. As Northwestern alumni, we have the opportunity to share the things we have learned throughout the course of our careers. One conversation or face-to-face meeting can have an incredible impact on those following in our footsteps.

I invite all alumni from all classes to participate as volunteer mentors. As chair of the Mentoring Committee, I have seen firsthand how we each play a part in strengthening and growing our alumni/student network.

Rishindra Reddy, ‘96, ’00 MD

The Alumni Physicians of Feinberg (APF) program is a series of ongoing informal, unscripted dinners wherein Northwestern medical alumni and faculty discuss their careers—how they made their specialty choice; what they actually do all day, how they balance work, family, and life; lessons they have learned; and what they would do differently—with 15-20 Feinberg medical students. The program was initiated by students seeking greater interaction with physicians in order to develop a deeper understanding of their daily work and lives outside of medicine. The candid setting allows students to go behind the scenes and learn about the life of a real physician.

Northwestern Network Mentorship Program

The Northwestern Network Mentorship Program is designed to cultivate meaningful, professional mentor-mentee relationships between the University’s accomplished alumni and current students. By pairing students and young alumni with registered mentors, the program gives mentors and mentees an opportunity to build rewarding relationships. Mentors are Northwestern alumni who are passionate about helping students and fellow alumni to develop skills for the workplace and expand their professional networks. Participants can sign up to be a mentor, a mentee, or both!

Alumni Weekend Mentorship Lunch

The Alumni Weekend Mentorship Lunch is designed to help mentor both students AND alumni. This lunch is an opportunity to give back to current students through career advice and also to network with other physicians who may benefit from speaking with more experienced alumni. This year, we had an incredible response from students—they partnered with alumni at a 1:1 ratio!
As chair of the Philanthropy Committee, I have seen firsthand the strength that you hold as alumni. Through your generosity, you have shown a solid belief in the power of philanthropy to transform medical education and the lives of our students.

As an involved alumni base, we have a great deal to offer in addition to money, but our financial contributions are critical. It is the generosity of alumni and other supporters of the medical school that has fueled the recruitment of top talent and our ascent as an emerging top-tier medical school.

Do not give just for the sake of giving, give because of the impact it has on our medical alma mater; it is up to us to continue raising it to new heights.

Gary Rusk, ’65, ’69 MD

A Tuition-free Medical School at Northwestern would require an $800 million endowment for scholarships. Today, our endowment stands at an approximate value of $150 million thanks to our many donors, including alumni like you who have given through class and reunion giving efforts.

Our tuition-free vision for scholarships is a part of We Will. The Campaign for Northwestern, a $3.75 billion campaign through which Northwestern Medicine seeks to raise $1.75 billion to provide crucial resources for our continued and increased innovation and excellence.

Increasing scholarship funding for our exceptional students allows them to pursue their passions without the worry of looming debt.

Useful Terms

Endowed fund: An account where the original gift is invested and remains intact, producing funds in perpetuity through dividends.

Expendable fund: An account where gifted funds are used immediately and not invested for future use.

Nathan Smith Davis Society: A society that honors individuals who support Feinberg through generous philanthropy and volunteerism.

Perpetuity: Refers to an infinite amount of time. In finance, it is a constant stream of identical cash flows with no end.

Philanthropy: A tradition in which individuals contribute, for reasons of altruism, their resources to nonprofit institutions with the goal of improving society.

Medical School Annual Fund: Provides support to areas of critical and immediate need. Gifts to the annual fund go where they are needed most at the time, and they are made to maintain the quality of the educational experience.
Strategic Initiatives

Global Health

Dr. Paul Bonucci

The Global Health Subcommittee is geared toward educating our alumni in global health and finding ways for alumni to become involved in the incredible work we do worldwide. We work closely with our award-winning Center for Global Health and our medical trainees to provide compassionate and comprehensive healthcare across the globe. Our activities, both on campus and globally, include:

- Mentoring students and residents;
- Alumni trips and volunteerism at designated Northwestern-affiliated clinical sites; and
- Financial support for Northwestern global health research and education on a sustainable, endowed basis.

Global health engagement presents a transformative opportunity for our alumni to support the strategic plan of Northwestern and create a meaningful impact both in Chicago and around the globe in the areas of education, research, and clinical innovation.

Dr. Jeffrey Sherman

Careers in medicine continue to transform and grow, and so do the talents of our fellow alumni. The Strategic Initiatives Committee is dedicated to exploring innovation in medical fields beyond the traditional career paths. In an increasingly connected world, we are proud to see classmates forging new partnerships across disciplines and borders.

Primary Care

The goal of the Primary Care Initiative is to expand awareness of our new Center for Primary Care Innovation (CPCI) and to give our alumni an opportunity to be a part of its growth and research opportunities.

There is resurging interest in primary care happening at Northwestern. The medical school rose an astounding 12 spots in the national rankings for this field to number 17 in the country this year, now tied with our research ranking, according to U.S. News and World Report. In June 2016, the CPCI was awarded a federal Health Resources and Services Administration grant of $3.75 million over five years to study the social determinants of health. The CPCI is the only center in the country to be awarded such a grant.

MDs in Business

MDs in Business is a newly minted program that recognizes and celebrates the bridges being built between the business and medical communities. Our alumni are playing key roles nationally and internationally to develop corporate partnerships and initiate technological and scientific advancements, all while directly influencing change in the constantly evolving healthcare landscape.

In July 2016, the first regional MDs in Business meeting was held in San Francisco, California. We look forward to building on our findings and developing specific engagement and networking opportunities.

MISSION OF MDS IN BUSINESS

- CREATE AWARENESS AND NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES FOR OUR ALUMNI WORKING IN BUSINESS
- ESTABLISH THE SUPPORT SYSTEM BETWEEN THE MDs IN BUSINESS PROGRAM AND THE MEDICAL SCHOOL
- PROVIDE ALUMNI AND STUDENT MENTORING AND INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Contact Jeff Masters at jeffrey.masters@northwestern.edu to learn more about the MDs in Business program at Feinberg.
Alumnus Joseph Kerwin, ’57 MD, was the United States’ first physician in space.

Alumnus Thomas E. Starzl, ’52 MD, (photographed below, right) who performed the first liver transplant in 1967 and was a pioneer in kidney transplantation, was given the moniker “Father of Transplantation.”

Alumna Anna Ross Lapham, 1898 MD, was the first woman to teach at the medical school. She joined the faculty in 1919 and became professor emeritus in 1946.

The Montgomery Ward Memorial Building was the first medical school building on Northwestern’s Chicago campus, welcoming its first students in 1926. It serves as a hub of study for medical students to this day.

Abbott Hall is named after Dr. Wallace Calvin Abbott, the physician who founded Abbott Laboratories in 1888. Abbott Hall used to serve as a residence for law, medical, dental, and married students from 1940 through the early 1990s. It has since been converted into an administrative building.

In 2002, the medical school was renamed the Feinberg School of Medicine in recognition of gifts and pledges totaling more than $103 million from The Joseph and Bessie Feinberg Foundation. Of these gifts, $75 million was pledged in direct support of medical education and research. This tremendous gift was, at the time, the largest single donation to a Chicago-area university.

The axiom that “education is the best investment” rings true; your contribution enriches the lives of many people, including me, and most importantly, future patients. This scholarship sparks a cascade of good that will ripple out for the duration of my professional and personal life.

— ANDREW CHOI, HABER SCHOLAR, CLASS OF 2017

I want to thank you for your kindness and generosity in supporting my medical school education. It is because of you all that I am able to pursue a career in medicine here at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine.

— NICHOLAS LOPEZ, CLASS OF 1974 SCHOLAR, CLASS OF 2018

From the bottom of my heart, I want to thank you for your generosity, kindness, and belief in me as a student. I am fortunate to pursue so many things here because of all of the resources offered to me at Feinberg. This scholarship is the gateway.

— ANIA BILSKI, KATHERINE KURTZ SCHOLAR, CLASS OF 2017

Thank you so much for your selflessness and generosity. Without your support, this incredible journey that I get to experience every day would not be possible.
