Celebrating Progress of Healthy Chicago 2.0

Congratulations to the Chicago Department of Public Health and partners on the progress made on Healthy Chicago 2.0, the city's plan to improve health equity.

CCH and the ARCC are proud to support this plan. ARCC Director, Jen Brown co-chairs Healthy Chicago 2.0's Data and Research Action Team.

Learn more in the 2017 Partner Update. The ARCC Seed Grant Program and other Northwestern efforts are highlighted in the section on Data & Research (p. 20). An ARCC-funded seed grant partnership between the Westside Health Authority and current and former ARCC Steering Committee members, Dr. Gail Huber and Dr. William Healey, faculty in Northwestern's Feinberg School of Medicine Department of Physical Therapy and Human Movement Sciences was featured in a video produced about Healthy Chicago 2.0.

An update to the Chicago Health Atlas has also been released. This is a great resource for accessing citywide information about health data and trends. Access it here. To get involved, email healthychicago 2.0@cityofchicago.org.
