The Department of Emergency Medicine and the Buehler Center for Health Policy and Economics at the Feinberg School of Medicine of Northwestern University are seeking a full-time investigator with expertise in health policy at the rank of tenured Associate or Full Professor to begin before Fall 2018. Responsibilities will include maintaining their research program as an independent investigator and collaborations with other interdisciplinary biomedical or public health research teams. This position will serve as one of two Associate Directors of the Buehler Center. Qualified candidates will have their PhD or MD, MPH, MPA or related training.

The successful candidate should have demonstrated success in original research and is expected to develop and maintain a robust extramurally funded research program. This is an outstanding opportunity in an expanding and highly collaborative multidisciplinary research environment. This full-time position is based in the Feinberg School of Medicine at Chicago lakefront campus. Primary academic appointment would be in the Department of Emergency Medicine. Salary is commensurate with experience.

The start date is negotiable and the position will remain open until filled.

Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Lori Post at lori.post@northwestern.edu. We will continue to accept applications until the position is filled.

Please send CVs and cover letters to Kara Pederson at kara.pederson@northwestern.edu.

Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.