

Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine

The Scholars Exchange 2026

Advancing Cardiovascular Health from People to Places to Populations

Heart health is as much determined in the clinic as it is in communities. In this session, Nilay Shah, MD, MPH will share his research group's work and approach for advancing equity in cardiovascular health for people, in neighborhoods in partnerships with communities, and through policy evaluation and interventions.

Admission is complimentary, but advance registration is required as space is limited.

Scan the QR Code to register!

About the Scholars Exchange

The Feinberg Office of Health Equity presents The Scholars Exchange, a new quarterly conversation series highlighting innovative scholarship that advances health for all.

Northwestern Medicine
Feinberg School of Medicine

Nilay Shah, MD, MPH

Assistant Professor, Cardiology,
Preventive Medicine, and Medical
Social Sciences, Northwestern
Preventive Cardiologist,
Bluhm Cardiovascular Institute
Gilbert S. Omenn Fellow,
National Academy of Medicine

Monday, January 26

2:00 – 3:00 p.m.

Simpson-Querrey Auditorium

303 E. Superior St., Chicago, IL

Questions? Contact:

feinberghealthequity@northwestern.edu

Office of Health Equity

feinberg.northwestern.edu/health-equity